US ARMY CHEMICAL MATERIALS AGENCY

CMA Overview and Requirements

10 October 2008

Presented by:
J. Richard Ward
US Army Chemical Materials Agency

US ARMY CHEMICAL MATERIALS AGENCY

Enhance national security by securely storing and ultimately eliminating U.S. chemical warfare materiel, both stockpile and non-stockpile, while protecting the workforce, the public and the environment to the maximum extent

Close

Store

Safely

Comply

Destroy

Storage/Demilitarization Locations

US ARMY CHEMICAL MATERIALS AGENCY

UMCDF, Oregon
Operating
Mustard
Nerve

NECDF, Indiana
100% Agent Destroyed
Facility in Closure
Nerve

ABCDF, Maryland
100% Agent Destroyed
Facility Closed
Mustard

TOCDF, Utah
Operating
Mustard
Nerve

BGCAPP, Kentucky
Design
Mustard
Nerve

JACADS, Pacific Basin
100% Agent Destroyed
Facility Closed
Mustard
Nerve

PCAPP, Colorado
Design
Mustard

PBCDF, Arkansas
Operating
Mustard
Nerve

ANCDF, Alabama
Operating
Mustard
Nerve

NSCMP

Hawaii

Neutralization of bulk agent stored in ton containers

PMACWA neutralization facility

Design/construction

US ARMY CHEMICAL MATERIALS AGENCY

- PROGRAM INTEGRATION SERVICES
  - Prepare, revise, maintain documentation. Analyze, update cost, schedule data. Develop, revise Work Breakdown Structure, Cost Estimating Structure, Organizational Breakdown Structure. Conduct studies. Prepare for meetings and briefings. Public outreach support

- FIELD OFFICE SERVICES
  - Review, monitor, evaluate site contractors efforts. Develop, update, evaluate, validate cost, schedule, & performance. Perform surveys and audits related to QA, design, safety, environmental, laboratory and monitoring, facilities, and process equipment. Provide support for meetings, technical studies, testing services, and configuration control. Provide local public outreach office support. Personnel will be located at sites (i.e. Alabama, Utah, Indiana, Oregon, and Arkansas)

- TECHNICAL SERVICES
  - Agent monitoring, technical analysis, design studies, fabricate, install and test equipment, analyze data, prepare reports, quality assurance, safety, security, surety services, personnel training, and medical support